Accessorize Brands Limited is the owner of the website and responsible for any personal information you submit via our website or otherwise provide to us in store or by talking to our customer services team. We are a retail clothing company selling in specialised stores and online.

We are an English company with registered company number 12543459 and our registered office is at 1 Nicholas Road, London, W11 4AN.

We are notified with the UK Information Commissioner's Office under registration number ZA762295, and are regulated by the ICO. KEEPING YOU SECURE ONLINE

When you shop with us online for the first time we'll ask you for certain information (such as your email address, name, address if you register an account or for a reward card, and where you purchase a product, your payment details) to make sure that your order and delivery go smoothly. Any information you hand over reaches us fully encrypted through an SSL – a special security layer added to your account and checkout pages. You can see when you're on a secure page, because the address in your browser will begin with https instead of http. And you can sleep easy, because your credit card details are processed in the UK.

SECURE PAYMENTS

VERIFIED BY VISA & MASTERCARD SECURECODE

You can register with Visa and Mastercard Securecode through your card issuing bank. It will bring up an extra security window after you check out that requires you to input digits from a pass code that you'll have set with your bank.

PAYPAL

When you choose to pay with Paypal, your financial information isn't even shared with us – Paypal handle the entire thing.

KEEPING YOUR PASSWORD SAFE

Remember to keep your Accessorize account password safe! We can help you to reset it now and then, but you'll need to make sure that it stays with you and only you. Giving it out can represent a security risk and Monsoon Accessorize will not be liable for any loss or damage that might arise from this.

CHILDREN

Should we discover that any such personal information has been delivered to any of the sites, we will remove that personal information as soon as possible.

COOKIES

Most websites use cookies, and we do too, to keep offering you the best service. A cookie is a way of transferring little bits of information from our website back to us, which means, for example, that we can see which pages or products are our most popular and then deliver more of the good stuff to you in future.

There are a few different kinds of cookies and they each do slightly different things.

WEBSITE FUNCTIONALITY COOKIES

These simply enable you to browse our website and use all our functions, like your Bag or Account pages.

WEBSITE ANALYSIS COOKIES

These help us to measure how the people on our site are using it, and we use this information to constantly improve the way we do things.

CUSTOMER PREFERENCE COOKIES

You know how when you land on our website from your laptop, the site knows that you're in your home country? That's the customer preference cookies hard at work. They help us to make sure your online experience is simple, easy and relevant to you.

TARGETING COOKIES

We sometimes run online advertising campaigns, and, if we think you'll be interested in what we have to say, targeting cookies will help us to deliver that message to you. More importantly, they limit the amount of times you see any of our ads, so you don't get fed up!

HAVING ISSUES ONLINE?

ACCESSING SECURE PAGES

It may be that there's a firewall blocking your access to secure pages. Some businesses or networks use firewalls to moderate the content employees or users can see. Try contacting your IT team to request access.

FINDING YOUR CARD'S SECURITY CODE

On most credit and debit cards, this code is found on the reverse of your card. Take the last three digits of the number on your signature strip – that should be it. On American Express cards, look for a four-digit number on the front.

VERIFIED BY VISA & MASTERCARD SECURECODE

If you're having issues with your password for this, you'll need to contact your card-issuing bank. We don't have access to any of your account information for Visa and Mastercard Securecode.
